Does it ensure that at least one non-executive director has an experience in the sector or industry the company belongs to? Please explain.

Yes. All members of the Board are required to have at least a practical understanding of the business of the Company, in addition to the other qualifications for membership in the Board provided for in the Corporation Code, the Securities Regulation Code and other relevant laws. Non-executive directors are accountable to the stockholders by overseeing its activities and ensuring that sound business decisions are made and that the Board is performing its role in accordance with the Company's business plans and strategies.	Independent directors are accountable to the stockholders, as well as other stakeholders of the Company, by making sure that the formulation of effective business plans involves independent judgment and diversity of views and perspectives.

The Company strictly adheres to the above definition of "independence" for the selection, nomination, and appointment of its Independent Directors.
